EOI DETAILS

1. Background

Princes Hill Primary School is located in inner-city Melbourne, with a current enrolment of 352 children and a capped enrolment of 450 children. It is expected that enrolment will maintain current levels over the next few years. In 2021 the staffing comprise of three principal class, 20.6 teacher class and 3.9 Education Support Staff. The school is also registered to enrol International students.

Princes Hill has a vibrant and inclusive community and the school's culture of respect and care for others fosters a cooperative environment. The school is developing as a strong community through meaningful and authentic collaboration; this enables the children to shape the present and the future of their community.

The school's intent is to foster the desire to continue to learn throughout life and the capacity to exercise judgement and responsibility in matters of morality, ethics and social justice by all members of the school community. Supporting our purpose are three core values: One community, Expanding possibilities, Strong and capable learners.

The school offers a range of programs and structures designed to facilitate student learning, engagement and social responsibility. Children as participants in the 21st century need to understand themselves as learners, learn to work collaboratively, engage in new technologies, learn how to access new skills and knowledge and develop the skills of thinking creatively, laterally and critically. The school's beliefs about learning, pedagogical practice, organisations structures and the physical environment reflect these core principles.

In 2021 the school community reviewed the school's practices and procedures and outlined potential focuses for the 2022-2025 strategic plan to further develop the vision and related practices and school improvement initiatives for the school. The vision is implemented through principles of learning which are continually reviewed and developed each year. The current principles are:

- Children are active, important members of a variety of communities e.g. family, school, ethnic cultures, multi-media and friendship groups – their understanding of the world develops through these social and cultural interactions.
- We develop motives to learn through positioning ourselves within social situations.
- We learn through the unity of emotions and intellect.
- We learn through critical engagement in complex, purposeful contexts where relevant connections are made to our world.
- We learn through consciousness of thought where we reconfigure pre-existing understandings and concepts.
- We learn through active participation, the many forms of expression.

New pedagogical practices are continually evolving to enact these principles through inquiry led research projects which incorporate the Victorian Curriculum. The approach focuses on targeted teaching and learning, individual and small group conferencing, workshops with a focus on provoking thinking and projects and provocations to enact the learning.

All aspects of organisation have been reviewed including grouping of staff and students, curriculum content, time management and parent involvement. Children and their team of teachers create a community of learners within a neighbourhood.

Parents are active participants in all aspects of the school involved in committees, mentoring children using their areas of expertise such as Artist in Residence Programs and active participants in learning neighbourhoods inquiries. Children, parents and teachers are continually involved in active research, developing the evolving vision and practices of the school.

The intent is to create an organisation which responds to the curiosity and drive to understand by all the participants. This is a democratic and collaborative process in which the roles of all the participants are transformed, fluid and interchangeable.

Curriculum is focused on exploring Big Ideas relevant to the community. Projects begin by exploring the communities' pre-existing understandings, sharing experiences to provoke new possibilities, determining and enacting a research project and sharing findings with the community. Documentation of projects in progress and completed projects is key to making the learning visible to all members of the community. The new and refurbished physical environments are designed to reflect and support the school's principles and practices.

Physical features of the school include six learning neighbourhoods, and a full size indoor basketball court/gym. There are two small ovals, two netball/basketball courts, a health and well-being centre, two playgrounds, and a sensory garden.

The student population, assumed to be represented by a wide range of socio-economic backgrounds, is likely to be characterised by a reasonable percentage of families with both parents working.

The Outside School Hours Care (OSHC) Service is required to cater for the following approximate number of children of school age during both Victorian term periods and vacation periods.

- Before School numbers: 15 - 35
- After School numbers: 45 - 90
- Student Free Day numbers: 30 - 60
